NEWPORT,
BY CRANSTON & NORMAN,
127 THAMES STREET.

MONDAY MORNING AUG. 25, 1851.

WE ask especial attention to the announcement by Mr. Scherh of three Lectures on Poetry and distinguished Poets, to be given at the Unitarian Church, the First this evening. Mr. Scherh, well known in Boston, and the vicinity, is a Swiss gentleman, who has resided in this country about six years; he has acquired a fine command of English expression, he has the highest enthusiasm and taste for Belles-Lettres, and his Lectures are spoken of by many of our friends, who have heard them in Boston and other cities, as bringing the hearer into a delightful acquaintance with the Poets of whom he treats. We confidently anticipate for ourselves, and promise our friends, high pleasure from a series of Lectures on such subjects by so enthusiastic and accomplished a scholar.

Graham's Magazine for September has been received, and is a very interesting number. The engravings are "The Coquette," "The origin of the Stocking Loom," "Innocence and Roguery," &c. The literary articles are by Mrs. E. Oakes Smith, Conrad, Prentiss, Mrs. Neal, and several other popular writers.

The Supreme Court, Chief Justice Greene presiding, will commence its August term in this town tomorrow morning.

A young lady at the Bellevue House, from Philadelphia, was considerably injured, Saturday evening, by her clothes taking fire from a lamp, as she was dressing. The flames were extinguished by some one who was passing her room at the time.

There is to be a Ball at the Bellevue House, this evening; it will be the last one of the season at this House, and we have every reason to believe that it will be a very brilliant affair. No pains or expense will be spared by Hazard to have everything in excellent order.

This is the regular night for a flop at the Bellevue, and we learn that there will be a great number of visitors. The beauty and fashion will all be centered at the Bellevue, this evening, and the Ball will be truly splendid.

The Grand Dress Ball, of the season instead of a Fancy Ball, will take place at the Ocean House on Friday evening next. From all that we hear, it will undoubtedly be a very brilliant affair, and will be numerously attended. The town is very full of visitors, and they are still coming.

Among the distinguished arrivals at the Ocean House, we notice Judge Douglas, U. S. Senator from Illinois; he is one of the most prominent loco-co candidates for the Presidency. In their Convention, the contest will probably be between Judge Douglas, Judge Woodbury and Gen. Houston. It will not matter much who receives the nomination, as the only honor which the successful candidate will receive will be that of being defeated.

Dr. Valentine gives one of his eccentric and highly amusing entertainments at Ocean Hall, this evening. He is the oldest genius living; he cannot possibly open his mouth without causing a roar of laughter. Go and hear him, if you want to pass a pleasant evening, and have enough to laugh at for a month to come. See advertisement in another column.

A COAT OF MANY CHANGES.—The Hon. Thos. F. Marshall, who has been for and against all parties since his political life commenced, has again changed his coat, and become a rank Whig. He was elected to the Kentucky Legislature as a Democrat, but on the evening of his election he repudiated the men who had voted for him, and declared himself among their partisan adversaries. The Whigs will call this a nob's act. If he had professed to be a Whig, had received Whig votes, and then turned on election day—they would have called it a base act. Marshall is a slippery eel, and the Whigs will not hold him long, or had him worth holding.—Prov. Herald.

This is a very modest and appropriate remark, to be sure, to be made by Tom Dorr, the editor of the Herald. A few years ago, there was not a more rabid Whig in the State than this same Tom Dorr,—but finding that the Whigs would not make a great man of him, he turned abolitionist, then attempted to revolutionize the State and demolish its institutions, for which he got to the State's Prison, and since then he has been a violent Whig. If his coat is not many-colored, then we have no desire to see him.

ARRIVAL OF GUSTAVE KROLLMAN.

We have the pleasure to announce the arrival in town, of M. Gustave Krollman, of Vienna. This distinguished artist is spoken of in the highest terms of compliment by the Boston papers. He has received his musical education, we learn, at the Conservatorie of Paris and Vienna. His great efforts have been in the classical compositions of Ernst, Spohr, De Beriot, Prume, and Paganini. The "Carnival of Venice," the composition of the last named composer, as performed by M. Krollman, is pronounced more brilliant and varied than the same performance by either Ole Bull or Vieutzens. At Max Maretz's Sunday concerts at Casino Garden, New York, Krollman was received with a perfect ovation, being encored four times and called upon to repeat the famous "Carnival," on his magic violin.

Dr. Valentine, the comic genius, has secured the assistance of M. Krollman for his entertainment at Ocean Hall, this evening, when the visitors in town will have an opportunity of witnessing the classic efforts of M. Krollman, combined with the Comic drolleries of the well-known Doctor.

The counting-room of Peckham & Bull was broken into Saturday night, by a thief or thieves, and the large iron safe blown open by powder, and eighty dollars taken therefrom. The counting-room of William G. Peckham, the blacksmith shop of Mr. Barton, and the sail-loft of Mr. Freeborn, on Commercial wharf and the counting-room of Mr. Devens, on Devens' wharf, were also entered, about the same time, but nothing of any importance was stolen. At this season of the year the Watch ought to be increased. We know that several noted thieves are in town, having arrived in the steamer Massachusetts, from New Bedford, on Friday; and they probably broke into the above named buildings. One of them is named Williams, and is an old offender.

Carl Bergmann, the accomplished leader of the Germania Musical Society, has just published a new piece of Music, entitled "Gipsy March," on themes from Meyerbeer's Opera, "Camp of Sisele," as sung by Jenny Lind. It is a very beautiful production, and is easily arranged for the Piano Forte, as not to be difficult of execution. It will be a popular piece, and will have an immense sale. All Bergmann's productions are of the highest order, and are great favorites with the ladies. It is a success.

Persons desirous of having their portraits painted, would do well to call on Mr. Lambert Sothe, an accomplished German artist, who is now at the Ocean House. Mr. S. has painted a number of pictures for visitors here, and he is very successful in obtaining excellent likenesses, and his pictures have a soft and very pleasing effect to the eye. He will remain in town a short time longer, and any one desiring his services should call on him at once. Specimens may be seen at his room at the Ocean House, and at the store of B. H. Tisdale & Son, Thames street.

Among the distinguished visitors in town, we notice Hon. Charles Sumner, U. S. Senator from Massachusetts. The beauty and fashion will all be centered at the Bellevue, this evening, and the Ball will be truly splendid.

The Grand Dress Ball, of the season instead of a Fancy Ball, will take place at the Ocean House on Friday evening next. From all that we hear, it will undoubtedly be a very brilliant affair, and will be numerously attended. The town is very full of visitors, and they are still coming.

The following very sweet lines are from the pen of an accomplished young lady now in town.

SONG.

Shine on, happy moon, in thy silvery ear,
Shine on in thine azure abode,
And shed thy soft beams through the silken afts,
To brighten thy luminous road.

Whatever those beams may illuminate to-night,
By forest, or mountain, or sea,
Whoever may watch them with tender delight,
They'll be dearer to none than to me!

Shine on, happy moon, in thy silvery ear,
Oh, would that I were in thy place,
For then would I pause on my journey aye,
To gaze on one dearly loved face!

Shine on, gentle moon, and if that hast the power,
To tint, when he gaves at thee,
Oh, shed on his soul, in the calm of that hour,
One thought to remind him of me!

And oh, fairest moon, when he slumbers to-night,
Look down and illuminate my dreams,
And make them as tender and heavenly bright:
As are thine own beautiful beams.

Oh yes, blessed moon, in thy journey aye,
Whatever his waking may be,
Weare, weare in his dreams the sweet visions of love,

And oh, let them all be of me!

DEATH OF BELCHER KAY, THE PRE-

LIST!—We learn from a gentleman recently from California, that Belcher Kay was shot at San Francisco lately by the same individual who killed Jack Smith. They were both hard boys, and have done some service in their day.

The next election is that of Vermont, on the first Tuesday of September, for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, and Legislators.

Later from Cuba.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.

A Havana letter in the Tribune, under date of Sunday, 17th inst., says:—"The rumors of last evening, and this A. M., from the field, give out that the Gen. Anna is surrounded by Lopez, and also that he is a prisoner. It is feared, it is believed very generally, that this or some other disaster has occurred to him. Government have received no news from the field for twenty-four hours.

Since writing the above, the steamer Almandama, just from Bahia Honda, reports 140 Americans shot there, and that on this boat there are from 30 to 50 wounded prisoners that they propose to pure and send home. Fifteen, it is said, were shot in cold blood on the deck of a Spanish war steamer—the Pizarro, I presume—inclosed in the above account."

The steamer Pizarro has been aground at Bahia Honda for 2 days. Col. Clandenham, who was the first of the 50 shot at Havana, was a young lawyer of New Orleans, and during the war with Mexico served with great distinction at the battles of Monterey and Buena Vista, under Gen. Taylor, with the Mississippi regiment, commanded by Col. Jefferson Davis.

Capt. Victor Kerr, was the son of Dr. Kerr, of New Orleans, who was a surgeon in the British army during the battle of New Orleans. He was known as a brave and chivalric youth, being about 23 years of age. He leaves a widow and child. Capt. James Brant was also from New Orleans, and had served in the late war with Mexico.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 20.

The excitement which prevails in this city relative to the Cuban outbreak, is most intense. Two more steamers, filled with men, sailed to-day, to join Lopez. The interference of the U. S. Marshal was of no avail, the sitting out and embarkation was done in defiance of the authorities.
